

HARVARD STUDENTS, AFTER RECEIVING RIFLES FOR THE FIRST TIME, ON THEIR WAY TO AN INSTRUCTION DRILL IN MASSACHUSETTS HALL, USED IN THE REVOLUTIONARY WAR AS BARRACKS FOR THE CONTINENTAL TROOPS.
(Photo © Underwood & Underwood.)

FRENCH SOLDIER FEEDING THE REGIMENTAL MASCOT, A WILD BOAR, CAPTURED WHEN YOUNG AND NOW QUITE TAME.

(Photo © by International Film Service.)

YOUNG SOCIETY WOMEN OF THE PINEHURST COLONY ORGANIZE A PREPAREDNESS GUN CLUB WHICH THEY CALL THE "HOME DEFENSE OF PINEHURST." They Are Here Shown at Target Practice with Revolvers, and Are, Left to Right: Miss Carolyn Cushman, Daughter of Robert H. Cushman, Monson, Mass.; Miss M. E. Finch, Port Chester, N. Y.; Miss Theresa D. Browning, New York; Miss Thelma Moertz, Port Chester, N. Y.; Mrs. Edward Kinsley, Worcester, Mass.; and Miss Naomi Everheart, Oshkosh, Wis.
(Photo © Underwood & Underwood.)

GENERAL LUIGI CADORNA, THE ITALIAN COMMANDER, AND GENERAL ROBERT GEORGES NIVELLE, FIELD MARSHAL JOFFRE'S SUCCESSOR AS FIELD COMMANDER OF THE FRENCH, ON THE ITALIAN FRONT.
(Photo © by International Film Service.)

THE COUNTESS OF LISBURNE, Formerly Miss Regina de Bittencourt, Daughter of Don Julio de Bittencourt, and the First Chilean Woman to Become an English Peeress.
(Photo © by E. O. Hopp.)

(Photo © International Film Service.)

ITALIAN SOLDIERS PASSING THROUGH THE VILLAGE OF ROCCA PICTOR, IN THE TREN-TINO, ALMOST BURIED IN SNOW, SHOWING THE DIFFICULTY OF OFFENSIVE WARFARE BY EITHER SIDE.