IMAGINE a scene like this on your own lawn! A stage dream? Far from it—this is actually a part of the "front yard" of a small suburban home on Long Island, and the sense of the middle of the forest is the result of landscape strategy, the tactics of adepts in the art of tree planting. And you can command this high art to give romantic, restful, refreshing woodland beauty to your own grounds without a penny of cost for the skill—all you pay for is the trees—at ordinary low prices. And we add our unqualified guarantee that the trees will suit in every way, now and for years to come—or replace them free. Nothing that bears the name of Hicks can stay wrong. And remember that you are not asked to wait long weary years for this forest effect—you can have it immediately, as if with Aladdin's magic wand—within a week after you say the word. Send us that word today in the mail—or over the phone tomorrow!
