

The President and his smile captivates "Dear Old England"

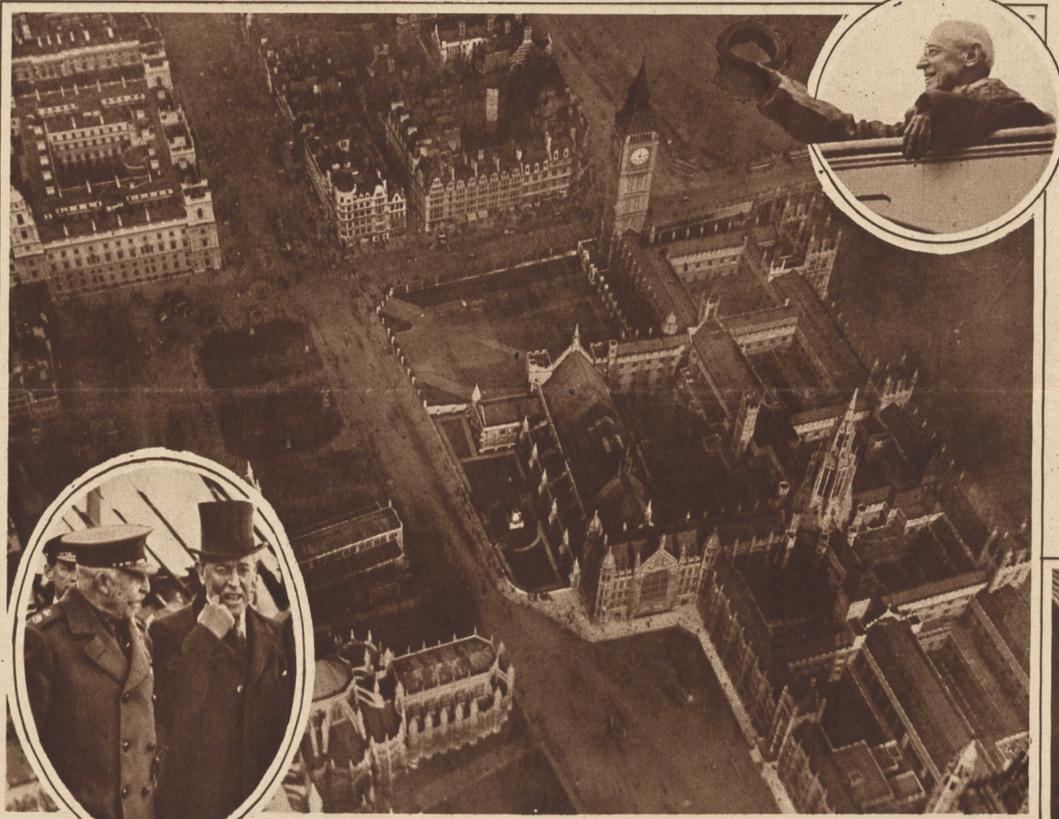

A doughboy with the Presidential standard guard the "luggage" of the President's party at Charing Cross Station. © Underwood & Underwood.

The Lord Mayor of London presenting the freedom of the city to President Wilson. Can you pick out Lloyd George from among the distinguished guests? © Underwood & Underwood.

President and Mrs. Wilson pose for a flashlight before taking the train to Manchester. Apparently they are taking no chances with North of England weather. © Central News.

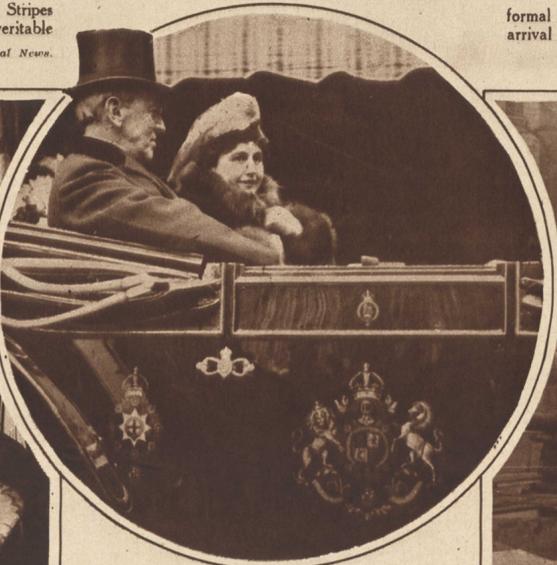

An unusual view of the House of Parliament taken from an airplane well above "Big Ben," which has just struck the quarter hour. © Central News.

Mrs. Wilson graciously poses for her picture on her visit to the American Ladies' Club in Mayfair. © Central News.

The royal coach bearing President Wilson and King George has just passed on its way to the Guildhall. Stars and Stripes and Union Jacks form a veritable canopy overhead. © Central News.

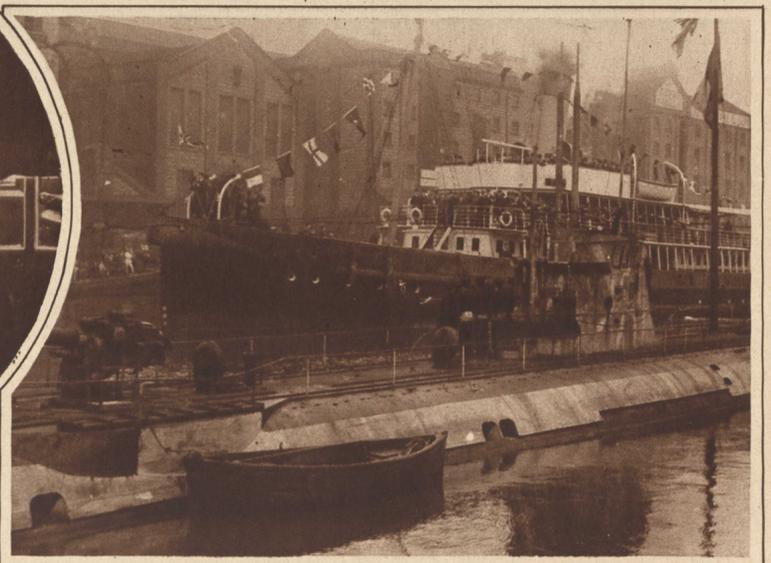

In Washington a Pierce-Arrow, in London a royal coach and four. President and Mrs. Wilson leaving Guildhall for the Mansion House. © Western Newspaper Union.

President Wilson listens patiently to a formal address of welcome on his arrival at Dover. © Central News.

President and Mrs. Wilson occupied one of the finest suites in Buckingham Palace during their stay in London. Above is a corner of President Wilson's bedroom. © Central News.

The President, from the bridge of a Manchester steamer, catches what is probably his first glimpse of a German supersubmarine. © Central News.

